Swisslog Healthcare Selected as Finalist for the APEX Awards' 2021 Company of the Year

Broomfield, CO (January 24, 2021) - Swisslog Healthcare, a leading supplier in healthcare technology combining pharmacy and transport automation, has been selected as a finalist in the Colorado Technology Association APEX Awards in the Company of the Year category. The APEX Awards recognize Colorado-based companies for their contributions to the technology community.

The APEX Awards bring together leaders from across the Colorado technology community and beyond to speak about the emerging trends that are shaping the industry and recognize the most notable people, companies, and accomplishments of 2021. This event includes keynotes, dynamic panels, and interactive breakout sessions for Colorado technology leaders to share ideas.

“Although our headquarters is in Colorado, our healthcare automation solutions help to improve the wellbeing of people throughout North America and all around the world. Especially in today’s state of healthcare need, it is special to be recognized by our local community and the Colorado Technology Association,” said Cory Kwarta, North America President of Swisslog Healthcare. “Being selected as a finalist for the APEX Awards is a testament to our team for all their hard work throughout the year to improve our technology and thereby ease the workflow of hospitals, central pharmacies, and other healthcare facilities.”

Swisslog Healthcare is a global industry leader for medication management solutions that assist healthcare facilities in increasing their accuracy and efficiency when it comes to distributing medications to patients. Their automation technology alleviates workforce challenges by allowing healthcare professionals to focus on more patient-facing work rather than filling and transporting medications all across a facility.

“Knowing we are helping to spread technology that allows for medical professionals to focus on patient care motivates me every day. I think everyone who is a part of the Swisslog Healthcare team will agree that the work we do is extremely rewarding.,” added Kwarta. “We appreciate the Colorado Technology Association for recognizing the impact of what we do and look forward to sharing our ideas at the upcoming summit.”

The 2022 Colorado Tech Summit + APEX Awards will be held on February 24, 2022. This year’s theme “Tech for Good” will be highlighting the power of technology in removing friction, accelerating change, and improving well-being. Learn more at coloradotechnology.org/apex-awards
